Introducing the Summer School

I am Michele Angelo Lupoi, I teach Civil Procedural Law and European Judicial Cooperation at the University of Bologna and I am the Director of the Program of Summer Schools on Transnational Litigation of the Ravenna Campus of the Unibo.

As a matter of fact, the Department of Juridical Sciences of the University of Bologna (Italy), Ravenna Campus, aims at becoming a reference point as concerns cross-border civil litigation for academics, practitioners and students worldwide.

After a very successful Summer School on Transnational litigation: current issues in civil and commercial matters, held in Ravenna (and online), on July 19-23, 2021, we have decided to organize a shorter Summer School (well, actually an Early Fall School, calendar-wise) on cross-border insolvency. Cross-border insolvency is a very interesting area of the law, where civil procedure, private international law, commercial law and other branches of the law meet and melt with each other, often raising very complicate problems which courts from different jurisdictions could be prone to solve in different ways. When a debtor becomes insolvent, private and public interests come into the picture, often leading to conflicts of jurisdictions and conflicts of laws, in a context where forum shopping has become a very sophisticated technique. At the international and at the European level, several uniform law statutes and regulations have been agreed upon and it is fundamental for any practitioner to be familiar with them.

The program of this Summer School deals with some fundamental issues of cross-border insolvency, concentrating, in particular on European harmonized provisions, in a comparative perspective, with both a theoretical and a practical approach.

The Faculty of the Summer School is composed of experts from different jurisdictions, with an academic as well as a professional background.

The Summer School is aimed at law students as well as law graduates and law practitioners who want to obtain a specialised knowledge in this complex and fascinating area of International civil procedure.

The lectures will be offered in part online and in part in a “blended” way (both in presence and online). Participants will have the possibility to attend every class from a Room in the Ravenna Campus of the Unibo.

The pre-registration form and the program of the Summer School may be downloaded from this link:

It is possible to register until 25 September 2021. The registration fee is 50,00 € (it includes the materials provided for by the lecturers and access to the recording of the lectures)

Call for application available here:
