

BrainBo Student Networking

BrainBo student networking group was born from a group of students from UniBo's GIOCA (Innovation and Organization of Culture and the Arts) and Visual Arts Master's Degrees in October, 2020.

Which are the aims of the network?

- Initiating discussions and meeting new people - especially the ones with different backgrounds!
- Filling that 'gap' of our Master's degrees, sometimes too focused on too tight topics related to them.

We believe that we all could benefit a lot from multidisciplinary and crossed perspectives both for the present and future times. Since our different professional backgrounds will be strongly linked, we reckon that starting to confront each other already during our university courses can definitely enrich us.

We would like to do so by creating meetings that will allow us both to challenge and confront ourselves with peers that we might have never seen before. Who knows what can happen when you meet someone new!

How are the meetings organized?

- Presentation by a guest with experience in the field of culture and management
- Delivery of a challenge to be discussed about
- Division of participants into breakout discussion rooms (small groups) according to artistic preferences
- Report of the results obtained from groups' discussion to the general meeting

Meetings are in English, they normally last 2/2.30 hours and are organized on a monthly basis.

Right now, the Master's Degrees involved are: GIOCA; Visual Arts; AMaC; CLAMDA IM; Digital Humanities; International Cooperation on Intercultural Heritage; Information, Culture and Media Organization; Music and Theatre Disciplines; Cinema, Television and Multimedia Production; Advanced Design for Services; and Tourism Economics and Management.
