

BrainBo Student Networking

Dear peers,

We are a student group from GIOCA (Innovation and Organization of Culture and the Arts) and Visual Arts Master's Degrees. We would like to introduce you to BrainBo, our new network which aims to connect students from GIOCA; Visual Arts; AMAC; CLAMDA; Digital Humanities; International Cooperation on Intercultural Heritage; Information, Culture and Media Organization; Music and Theatre Disciplines; and Cinema, Television and Multimedia Production Degrees.

The aim of our meetings is to initiate discussions, develop seminars and create projects between us. We could benefit a lot from multidisciplinary and crossed perspectives both for the present and future times. Since our different professional backgrounds will be strongly linked, we reckon that starting to confront each other already during our university courses can definitely enrich us.

The meetings - delivered in English and lasting a maximum of two hours - will be divided into:

- Presentation by a guest with experience in the field of culture and management
- Identification of macro areas of discussion
- Division of participants into breakout discussion rooms (small groups of ± 5 people) according to artistic preferences
- Report of the results obtained from each group discussion to the general meeting

First Meeting:

- Friday 13th November, 2020 at 6pm (a new way to have an aperitivo!)
- on Microsoft Teams (more details about the connection will be provided)
- Introduced by Prof. Margherita Sani, who will show how our professions are closely linked and how it is possible to benefit from interaction at large.

If you are interested and curious about the project and would like to attend the first meeting, open this link and fill it in with your details by November, 5th. It will help us in organizing the meeting in the smoother way as possible.

May you have any questions, do not hesitate to contact us at brainbonetwork@gmail.com

Hoping to see you online,
