

English Placement Test – Biomedical Engineering applicants

Students who intend to apply for the Master's Degree in Biomedical Engineering must prove their English proficiency in order to be admitted.

The requirement is considered met if the candidate submits a suitable certification of at least level B2 CEFR upon applying.

The University of Bologna Language Center (CLA) offers the possibility to sit an English placement test for the applicants who do not hold an English language certificate.

Method of assessment

The assessment includes multiple choice grammar questions, a short "gap-fill" type exercise and multiple-choice comprehension questions based on understanding short written and audio dialogues. The duration is 60 minutes.

The language assessment will take place online via Zoom platform. To participate, the candidate must connect with a fixed or portable PC equipped with webcam and microphone. Alternatively, it is possible to carry out the assessment with a tablet + smartphone. Without this IT equipment, the assessment cannot be sustained.

Please note: it is possible to take the exam just one time, you cannot take part to further test dates to improve your result so, carefully choose the exam date.

There are 75 positions available for each test date. If more than 75 candidates apply on a single test, priority will be given to those already admitted under condition by the test enrolment deadline. Eventual other priority criteria may be decided if deemed necessary.
